Welcome

British Dressage offers riders between six and 25 years old training, competition and support to step onto the centre line and shine. Our programmes are designed to educate and inspire young people on their journeys to becoming well rounded professionals, both in and out of the saddle.

Start now with us

We support young riders from the age of six and beyond, through a range of training, education and competition pathways. Having the knowledge to support your child on their British Dressage journey starts here.

Membership

Club membership is perfect for those at entry level, competing in Intro to Prelim tests, aiming for Quest competitions and Regional training. Full membership offers unrestricted access to all competition and training opportunities, from Novice to Grand Prix. Horses and ponies will also need a registration with us, whether Club or Full.

Safeguarding and safety

British Dressage, as part of British Equestrian (BEF), takes Safeguarding very seriously and together with the other member bodies forms a Safeguarding Action Team (SAT). SAT works together in collaboration to share best practice, produce policy and procedures to ensure the safety of all participants, as well as actively promoting safeguarding through education.

Training

Start local

Regional Training

Dressage is all about training and BD Youth aims to give all young people the best possible start for a lifetime in the sport. If your child is looking to be involved with BD Youth, the best place to start is your local region.

Each region hosts regular training, camps and social activities throughout the year that your child can be involved with. Regional training days are open to all ages of riders, from as young as six to 25, and feature coaching and test riding practice with national and local fully qualified coaches. Sessions and camps run during the school holidays and over weekends, these are organized by each region's BD Youth Representative or Regional Development Officer.

Your Youth Rep

The BD Youth reps are the first point of contact within your region. Visit www.britishdressage.co.uk to find your region and Youth rep contact details.

All about Youth Squads

Regional squads open doors to many opportunities. Squads are the first step for team competitions, including the Home Nations, U25s Championships and Inter Regionals, and help define your child's level for training days and camps. How it works:

- 1) Attend assessment or training day within Region
- 2) Allocated to Youth Squad
- 3) Train, compete, track progress
- 4) Progression through squads and selection for Regional teams

Update to 'Squads are aligned with their own test system, known as Rider Skills Tests. These are used to monitor progress in training and are ridden at team events. Test movements are ridden but judges assess young riders on position, accuracy, skills and how much difference is made to the horse. This format allows every rider the chance to excel.

Compete

where to get started

British Dressage competition begins at Intro level and progresses to Grand Prix. Under 25 riders compete day in day out against all BD members at regular BD shows. Club membership holders may compete in all Quest competitions, Combined Training qualifiers, all regular Freestyle to Music classes and work towards Petplan Area Festival qualification at Prelim Bronze level. Youth riders with a Full membership have access to the all types of competition with us and can aim to qualify for the Winter and Summer Regionals, which lead to Winter Championship and National Championship qualification (starting at Prelim level).

Regional team events

Youth Inter Regionals

This event sees our regions battle it out for the honour of being the best in Great Britain. Teams are made up of three or four riders with each competitor riding the Youth Rider Skills Test for their relevant squad. Each region is allowed up to five teams, with riders competing for team and individual titles. To be selected to compete, there are a few requirements to be considered including scores, squadding and regional training attendance.

Youth Home Nations

Held annually for under 25s, this competition brings together Ireland, Scotland, England and Wales as each nation vies for prestigious top honours. BD tests are used from Novice to Medium or FEI Children on Horses to Young Riders and contribute towards team and individual titles. The format replicates CDI competitions with an opening ceremony followed by team and individual competition.

Selection policies are available on the British Dressage website, visit your region or www.britishdressage.co.uk.

In focus...

Quest

Quest is the perfect starting point for young riders new to BD competition. Compete in teams or individually from Intro to Novice with a separate section for riders under the age of 21. Quest fixtures have their own shows, Regional Finals and Championships.

Area Festivals

The popular Petplan Area Festivals have two annual series and Championships and offer sections for youth riders up to and including Medium level. Gain points at regular BD shows to work towards having a shot at these dedicated under 21 titles at two major Championship events.

FEI experience

Young riders competing in FEI age classes should aim for Premier League and High Profile shows where these fixtures host dedicated classes for youth riders. These are for Children on Horses, Pony, Junior and Young Riders, and for those aiming to ride internationally are a must.

Education

Building bright futures

BD Horse Care

The British Dressage Horse Care programme is designed to help young riders learn all of the fundamentals in caring for horses. We believe that riders should be all-round professionals both in and out of the saddle and developing horsemanship and welfare is at the forefront of our training priorities. The BD Horse Care course is a mixture of online and practical learning modules, which aims to boost the care skills of our youth and senior members alike.

What is BD Horse Care?

Horse Care focuses on improving skills in four key areas:

- Nutrition
- Grooming
- Wellbeing
- Tack and dress

There will be five tiers in total, starting at the Introductory Horse Care Certificate, progressing through to the Advanced Horse Care Certificate, and these will be linked to the BD Youth squadding levels, as following:

Introductory Horse Care Certificate (Tier 1) | D Squad

Preliminary Horse Care Certificate (Tier 2) | C Squad

Novice Horse Care Certificate (Tier 3) | C+ Squad

Intermediate Horse Care Certificate (Tier 4) | B/B+ Squad

Advanced Horse Care Certificate (Tier 5) | A Squad

All must start with the introductory certificate – before working up to the relevant level, depending on which squad a rider is in.

To get started, register from just £10 per level - it's simple and online, visit www.britishdressage.co.uk and find 'Learning Hub'.
